Jesus' Last
Words

John 19

Jesus hung on the cross. It was so painful, and so sad. It was a terrible way to die. But Jesus looked down and saw his mother, Mary, and one of his friends, John. He said to Mary, “Mom, John will be your son, now.” And to John he said, “Mary will be your mother.” After that day, John and Mary looked after each other for the rest of their lives, and she lived in his house like his own mother.

“I’m thirsty,” Jesus said, and someone put a sponge full of wine on a branch and held it up high so he could drink it. After he had drunk it, he spoke his last words.

“It is finished,” he said, and died. Jesus had surrendered his spirit.

Surrender

To give up. To let whatever happen that is going to happen.

See if your home has different kinds of vinegars and ask if you can taste them. Look at what ingredients are used to make the vinegars. With a helper, make a recipe using vinegar!

Well Gee Whiz!

A sponge does not "absorb" water. Instead, it "adsorbs" it. Have an adult help you go online to learn the difference- you'll probably teach them a thing or two!
